

THE BOARD OF REGENTS.

The Constitution of the State of Nevada, Section 5, Article XI, provides for the establishment of a State University, which shall embrace departments for agriculture, mechanic, arts and mining, to be controlled by a Board of Regents, whose duty shall be prescribed by law. Section 7 of Article XI made the Governor, Secretary of State and Superintendent of Public Instruction a Board of Regents for the first four years after the adoption of the Constitution, but directed the Legislature at its regular session next preceeding the expiration of a term of said Board to provide for the election of a new Board of Regents and define their duties. In 1891 there was a Board of Regents composed of members regularly elected in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution. For some purpose not generally known the Legislature of 1891 in the face of the Constitutional provision that the Regents shall be elected, passed an Act making two State officers ex-officio members of the Board of Regents. Lawyers say this Act of the Legislature was clearly unconstitutional, but no attempts was made to test it in the Courts. Now, however, a bill is before the Legislature to repeal the Act of 1891 adding two ex-officio members to the Board, and also a bill to increase the number of Regents to five and provides for the election of three Regents instead of one at the next general election. Persons who are conversant with the affairs of the university say that three Regents are amply sufficient to conduct the affairs of the institution and that to increase the number would unnecessarily be increasing the expense.

A NEEDED LAW.

It now transpires that David Porter who fell several stories in the Mills Building is supposed to have committed suicide because he was the administrator of an estate and had sunk about $18,000. He bore a spotless reputation up to the time he got his hands on an estate. A good many men go wrong that way.

In Nevada estates drag along for years to a settlement and the parties handling them usually have a good thing, living high while the heirs wait.

A law providing that they file a sworn statement of receipts and disbursements every month with the County Clerk, the account to be open to public inspection, would close several wide avenues for thieving.

HAMPERING STEWART.

The Nicaragua Canal Resolution seems to have caused considerable bad blood between the Senate and Assembly. It looks as if some parties in the Senate who are anti-Stewart men are pushing the measure, not with the idea of benefiting the State, but of hampering Stewart in his silver fight.

He has been sent to Washington for the sole purpose of making a fight for silver and it would seem a good idea to allow him to be as unhampered as possible with other propositions.

The City of Peking Arrives.

San Francisco, Feb. 6.—The steamship City of Peking, which had been overdue from Yokohama since January 24, is being towed into port by the tug Vigilant. She will not get in for several hours, probably not until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

At 1 o'clock the Peking was still outside the heads in tow of the tug Vigilant and Active. She signalled that her delay was caused by trouble with her machinery.

The steamer was seventeen days under sail and all are well on board.

The Tribune seems to be offended at the Editor of the News because she knits stockings in the Assembly Chamber.

The Tribune man never did as much as knit a pair of stockings for State development since he has lived in it. He couldn't do anything as useful as knitting a pair of stockings if he tried. In the war between Edie and Annie the sympathies of the public go with Annie, who is having the best of the fight.

The wife of ex-Secretary Whitney died yesterday.
